RE: Thorough analysis of I-1125 by the Washington Policy Center

After all the over-the-top rants and tolling-is-the-future hyperbole by I-1125's opponents, it's helpful to have a professional analysis of our initiative by the Washington Policy Center. Here's a link to their Citizens' Guide to I-1125:

<http://www.washingtonpolicy.org/sites/default/files/Citizens-Guide-to-1125-PB.pdf>

They evaluate 8 questions about I-1125, list arguments from both sides, and then provide some thoughtful analysis of each.

And given last week's update related to I-1125's requirement that it be elected representatives, and not unelected bureaucrats, setting tolls, we were particularly interested in this on page 10: "Like the legislature, the WTC (Washington Transportation Commission) is made up of citizen members; it is not necessarily a group of transportation or financial experts ... (and) are subject to political pressures ... the only difference is WTC officials are appointed, not elected, and therefore they lack direct accountability to the public."

This is clearly the tip of the iceberg of their 16 page analysis of I-1125. We welcome their perspective.

If you like and appreciate our past, current, and future efforts on behalf of taxpayers, please send us a donation for $10, $25, $50, $100, $250, $500, $1,000, $2500, $5000 or more (there are no limits on how much can be given). Please consider a monthly pledge from now through December for our fund. We ask you to please help us help taxpayers. You can go to our website -- <http://www.VotersWantMoreChoices.com> -- sometimes this web link doesn't work so please cut and paste it if you have to, sorry for the extra step -- and make a secure PayPal or VISA or MasterCard contribution -- OR, you can print out the form below, fill it out, and return it with a check or credit card information.
